General Comment

Although I am in favor of regulating conflicts of interests between brokerage houses and customers, I have issue with the part of the proposed law which will prohibit me from trading "covered call" options in my retirement brokerage accounts. I should be free to use options in this manner within my retirement account to improve my returns and grow my assets. I should be allowed to assume the risk of using options in this manner just as I am allowed to choose which stocks, ETFs and funds to put in my portfolio.
